“Chanting Holy name (Ram Narayan Ram) persistently, every particle of your entity will be saturated in that universal tuning.”

Today's festival is not for celebration, it is meant for those distressed people, for the betterment of race and society. Vedic philosophy also preaches the concept of reformation of society and race. Vedic scriptures preach this unequivocal notion of positivity. If you follow the ideologies of other scriptures, consisting of idea of evils like sacrifice of goat then these are the enemies of our nation, enemies of the citizens. We should destroy all such unholy demoniac convictions. They are becoming impediment in the advancement of the society, they are not the associates of the community, whoever they are, our scriptures have strongly instructed to demolish all of them. Previously I have described about this concept that whenever I have tried to convey something the concept of politics comes along with that discussion. But spiritualism can never be approached without the concept of politics. If it would be different from each other, then the chronicles would have portrayed the images of Gods and Goddesses without weapons. As we need flowers, holy water and other things to worship God, similarly, to protect our family, we need to create environment to nurture positive thinking. In my village I saw thousands of watermelons lay in the ground, no one ever thought to steal those. I had once asked the farmer- "O! brother thousands of melons are lying in the field, does nobody ever try to steal those melons?" the farmer replied - "No one has ever tried to steal those." After informing this, the farmer cut a watermelon and offered me pieces. Hence, I cannot assert that human race is atrocious or brutal, human temperament has reached to this stage under the viciousness of deprivation and self-centeredness. Where my father used to work, he used to get milk 2/3 paisa per Litre. No one could ever think of blending water in milk. In our country where in every moment we can witness the gracious presence of Sun and Moon, where seeds use to germinate naturally so sprightly, it is impossible to experience such deprivation or scarcity if it is not concocted by the mass. By the law of this very Nature, or the Creator, can create and that way He can destroy too life too. Today our poor destructed brothers and sisters are staring at us helplessly as we are wearing good clothes, where they remain exposed and unprotected to the harshness of nature. There are people, who are eating waste foods and straight ahead of them we are consuming scrumptious foods, we are bearing to see all of these. This is the real situation of our nation, but no one has ever thought to bring revolution. Have you ever thought of that? Those deserted people never think of attacking your property or habitation. Nobody has that inclination to commit unjust act, but they have been conditioned by the crookedness of the circumstances. In God's domain the vigilance from our bosom center always alerting us. No one has ever eye-witnessed God, but the creatures can perceive the responses of God at every moment. Still why do creatures fail to acknowledge? The mild thudding sound of heart has been associated with the same degree of implanted celestial tuning. As if someone is hindering the internal conscience of our heart. Though we are all repentant, but it does not matter how much we use to mitigate our expression of act. If there was an X-Ray machine to exhibit all our actions, then nobody could ever look at each other, nobody would ever trust each other. Thankfully! they are not becoming acquainted with that reality. There are so many people in search of God, thinking where does God reside? He is dwelling through the internal fine tune of our heart. Only that person can get to know the real enigmatic existence of God, who will successfully attune the mind with that eternal tune of the Universe.

We always remain desolated and dejected as we all fail to tune ourselves with that of the celestial melody. Only that person can become a true devotee who will victoriously maintain the utmost purity and clarity of that transpicuous motion which comes from our internal conscience. But all those fake opportunistic preachers of our society are creating commotion; they are destroying the society, creating discrimination in the social norms only to serve their acquisitive purpose. Hence, we should realize how to proceed in the path of life. First, we need to accept that we are all traveler, we are all wayfarer, and the purpose of our birth is to tune ourselves with that celestial strain. Keep distance from those who always render negativity and despondency, who always talk about dejection and hopelessness. Everyone assumes that they will never witness God for the transgression and the guilty feeling of their mind. Those who are lamenting that they are not witnessing God- if they are introspective and compassionate about this, then they can realize their understanding of this truth is contained with that conscious perception. Their instrument is tuning perfectly, and their sensitivity is awake and attentive. Your inability is not the matter of concern, but the comprehension of your ineffectiveness is important. The person who can comprehend his inefficacy to tune his instrument, then that instrument itself will automatically edify him how to do it. If you fail to solve any problem of mathematics, it means you are aware of that problem, that is why you are capable of stating that, then you will certainly solve the problem either with your own brain power and observation or by utilizing others intelligence. Hence, to develop your understanding, the concept of chanting the Holy name has been introduced. The Holy name is the ultimate supreme sound, and the absolute unparalleled sound. Every phenomenon has been created from that predominant greatest sound, raining, lightning all had derived their form from that sound, and all are perceiving their form from that divine melody. Accordingly, if you will always engage yourself with that celestial tune, then it will be vibrating inside you. That vibration will always create that thudding sound inside you. Earthquake and flood are natural occurrences which also create sudden thrust which is also a kind of sound. Those phenomena which draw their sustenance from that supreme sound, only that absolute sound can capture those phenomena. Each and everything in this universe exist based on the foundation of that sound. That means this sound is the ultimate resource of any motion. The locomotion of the car also results from that sound that is why we can hear the screeching noise of the car. That predominant tune consists in everything. Think, why does this tune reside in everything? Our whole universe is comprised of that sound. There is no difference in sound and in universe. Universe is another form of sound - just as water and ice crystals. Ice consolidates from ocean, and it is this ice which also floats on the surface of ocean. Similarly, accumulating its form from that sound, our universe is also levitating in the ocean of sound. Our existence is also floating in the waves of sound like the ice crystals. Sound is not just a phonic existence, it exists in every action, gestures, even the movements of our fingers is comprised of that vibration and is part of that sound. Phonetic language and sound are similar. But what is the language of a newborn baby? The incomprehensible babbling sound of a baby consists of a profound tune. Likewise, the throwing gestures of hands and legs of a baby are also involved with that sound. When something hurts the infant, it makes weeping sounds as at this vulnerable stage every child can only express their emotions with one universal language, they do not reciprocate through their mother tongue. Where each and everything is so minutely and carefully arranged in this universe then why does it becomes necessary for us to always search for God in scriptures? At the same time, it is also noteworthy that we never need to explore our thirst for water. Tiger is drinking water from one side, deer is drinking water from other side, and whereas human being is satisfying his thirst from another side. Your thirst for water is such spontaneous action that nobody needs to inform you about that sense. Then why are we longing for witnessing God, who has created this phenomenal universe? A person in his yearning for God is asking another person whether He will ever be able to witness God or not. Think about it, why don't you ask anyone whether they are feeling thirsty or not? In the scriptures of our lifecycle, witnessing God has become so easy. I do not value the object which I get easily hold of, that is why I do not evaluate the real worth of God. Where people with unhinged mind always searching for that ultimate profound meditative state in their lives, they do not understand that creator has himself provided us with that supreme meditative state. Our sleep is the God gifted meditative condition. If a person sleeps with unfurled eyes, he cannot observe anything other than his profound snoring sound. If that person would have asked to snore consciously then he would have started bleeding after 5 mins. But he can snore unconsciously for hours after hours without getting affected by it. The reason behind that action of snoring is that in our sleep certain inhibition becomes unanchored. The internal invisible snake which is situated within us become conscious and it seeks provision hence we snore while asleep. We are running only after unscrupulous objects, leaving behind the precious valuable objects.

It is alarming the way we are destroying our spontaneous meditative state in our sleep. One starts to dream right at the moment when the meditation occurs in the sleep. Dream can be baseless, but through this process of dreaming one can achieve all those things effortlessly which is hard to accomplish otherwise. If one thinks that he will be flying in his dream, then he can certainly perform that action in his dream because the tune of bosom center becomes unbound during that moment. A person is walking on the water surface- but if you will be asked to perform the same then your reply will be 'No'. Your mind has the potential to reach such a state in your dream that you can conduct anything as per your wish. The way turbid water is filtered through the blotting paper to get the transparent texture, likewise the impurity of your mind gets purified in that profound meditative state of sleep, so every possible action becomes possible in the state of dream. To penetrate that state, we need to engage ourselves with the state of meditation with perseverance and full devotion. You cannot fly while you are awake, but you can fly easily in your dream. You will become successful when you can bring that state of mind of your dream in your awakened state. The great Yogis engage themselves in that profound meditation just to maintain that pure state of mind of their dream in their awaken state. Even now there are great Yogis who still are absorbed in deep meditation in the deep sacred zone of Himalayas. Think how mesmerizing it is, the supreme creator has gifted you such magnificent meditative state of mind that you do not need to invest any effort, you instinctively fall asleep. Just keep chanting that Holy name while asleep. You can certainly reach to the ocean just by curving and following the path of the water hole beside your home. You do not need to pursue any other course of action. Try to utilize this gifted form of natural meditation. Remember souls can never procure this state of meditation- as you are all still acquiring your body, you can easily achieve that state of mind, and it is in your hand. Hence, do not leave your dream in an ineffectual state. Willingly or unwillingly, always chant the Holy name to always remain immersed in that absolute supreme tune. What is the significance of this sound? This sound is the greatest sound. Everything has been emerged from this sound. We need to chant the Holy name relentlessly to attune our instrumental tune with the same degree of that supreme sound. Our glands flourish due to the tuning with that celestial melody. Always engage yourself with the process of chanting. If you will continue to chant the Holy name persistently then every particle of your entity will be saturated in that universal tuning. Then you will not feel attraction towards any other objects around you. Nature will itself arrange your promotion - it will protect you; it will veil you to lead you towards that ultimate destination. Then you can observe everything remaining in one place. You need to do nothing just to maneuver that pendulum continuously - you will notice, everything will be transpiring in front of your eyes surprisingly. You cannot comprehend this concept right at this moment, but once you become aware of its existence within yourself you will be mesmerized. Today you are frenetically searching for that ultimate destination, just like the deer frantically searches for musk but it does not realize that the musk is contained in its own body. Similarly, we are also searching of that fragrance in our extrinsic surface whereas that incredible feeling is embedded within us.
